REGULARS AND GUARDSMEN TOGETHER.

RUMORS OF A MINISTERIAL CRISIS-THE MASSACRE AT BERBER.

PASSAGE OF THE FRANCHISE BILL NOW ASSURED-THE AMERICAN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION. [BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 14 .- Rumors of an imminent Minsterial crisis have prevailed during the week. It is difficult to find a new basis for them. Most of these rumors were rife on Wednesday evening at Mrs. Gladstone's party, where a brilliant company eagerly discussed the probabilities of the fall of the Minister under whose roof they stood. The general public takes matters more easily since Mr. Gladstone's explicit pledge on Monday that the House of Commons should have an opportunity for pronouncing judgment on the arrangement with France before anything is concluded binding the country. The Pall Mall Gazette continues to publish startling accounts of the bases of the agreement, which Ministerial journals industriously contradict. It is needless to repeat the details, but everybody agrees that if the Ministry propose a multiple control in addition to the loan the House of Commons will refuse its sanction. Mr. Gladstone's friends say that he is perfectly aware of the gravity of the occasion, and is preparing a defence which may be the last speech he ever delivers in the House, and will probably occupy two or three hours. In the event of a hostile vote he will not resign, but will dissolve Parliament though one member of the Cabinet asserts that the immediate resignation of the Ministry will then be probable. Both parties are busily preparing for a general election.

BAD NEWS FROM EGYPT.

Meanwhile from Egypt is telegraphed nothing but bad news. The Ministerial organs discredit the report of the fall of Berber, but to-day's Times publishes a circumstantial narrative from Korosko, which is fully credited by English officers there, fixing the attack at daybreak on the 23d of May. There was a brave defence lasting two hours, the ammunition was exhausted, the rebels rushed, and the garrison of fifteen hundred men and the population numbering two thousand were slaughtered, the women being spared.

There is nothing new from General Gordon. The desultory siege of Suakim still continues. ANGLO-FRENCH RELATIONS.

The continental press improves the occasion for daily lectures to England, the French press joining with the German press, and an article in the Débats of peculiar violence finally provoking the grave warning from The Times that while anxious for friendship with France, England, if it be not obtamable on conditions of mutual respect, must do without it, since it cannot be retained at the cost of incessant demands on one side and of unlimited concessions on the other. England, it adds, must fall back on Germany if France persists in its present policy. Premier Ferry, however, maintains a tone of conciliation, say Lord Granville's friends; while the Paris correspondents affirm that the anti-English feeling of the press and of the people is daily growing in intensity.

THE BELGIAN ELECTIONS.

The Clerical victory in Belgium is a blow to the Liberal cause in Europe, and threatens to overthrow everything gained during the last six years. It has been due partly to Radical excesses, which alarmed the moderate Liberals, and partly to priestly influence; and for the same cause is likely to hand over the schools to priestly control.

RIOTING IN ULSTER.

The rioting at Newry last Sunday, though not serious, threatens unpleasant consequences. Lord Spencer's new policy of opening Ulster to the Parnellites, the Conservatives say, has had the result which they foretold-that of alienating the Ulster Loyalists and of failing to conciliate the Nationalists. Lord Spencer's intended journey to Belfast has been perhaps postponed on account of irritation created among people devoted to the Union.

DEFEAT OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE. The Franchise Bill has made rapid progress, surmounting the last two perils threatening its safe passage through the Committee. The Woman Suffrage amendment was handsomely smashed on Thursday, Mr. Gladstone on the previous Tuesday, in an impressive speech, while refusing to discuss the principle, plainly indicated his hostility to the proposal on its merits, and condemning the attempt to mix the question with party politics. He announced that he would offer the strongest opposition to the proposal in his power, and would abandon the Franchise Bill if the amendment were adopted. The women, however, insisted that their friends should go to a division. This was taken on Thursday, and resulted in a majority of 136 against the amendment, 31 Liberals only supporting the Tories, who expected to use the proposal as a means of embarrassing the Government, but perceived that the contest was hopeless after Mr. Gladstone's declaration. The suffrage sisterhood and its supporters held a meeting yesterday, Mr. Stansfeld presiding, and a number of augry speeches were made, and resolutions adopted in favor of continued agitation. The Daily News and The Pall Mall Gazette show their usual readiness to plunge in social abysses in support of the women.

The Tory hopes were again wrecked by the result of the discussion on Mr. Albert Grey's amendment proposing to postpone the operation of the Franchise Bill until 1887. Mr. Gladstone offered 1885 as a compromise, and Mr. Grey's Whig supporters agreed, so that the "cave" collapsed. One more sitting is expected to see the bill through the Committee. 1. The report that Mr. Gladstone is in favor of the disestablishment of the English Church in Wales is contradicted on authority.

Mr. Schenck's dinner to the American Lacrosse Teamswas on Monday at the Hotel Continental. Mr. Lowell presided, and a number of distinguished guests were present. The speeches were few but of excellent quality, and were made by Mr. Lowell and Mr. Balch, who responded for Mr. Schenck and the team. Colonel Shaw and Sir Charles Tupper also spoke. The health was drunk of Mr. Erastus Wiman, of New-York, whose liberality made the expedition possible, and he was cordially cheered. Later in the evening Mr. Irving and Mr. Toole appeared. Both spoke late, but still gave recitations and delighted the company.

THE MASSACRE AT BERBER.

THIRTY-FIVE HUNDRED PERSONS KILLED. DEFENCE OF THE GARRISON-THE EXPEDITION TO

KHARTOUM-THE CONFERENCE. LONDON, June 14 .- Egyptian advices state that an Arab has arrived at Korosko who claims to be the sole survivor of the Berber garrison. He says he was present when the rebels attacked Berber on May 23. The garrison defended the town for two hours of severe fighting, but the rebels were too strong for them and forced their way into the city, where they immediately massacred the 1,500 men of the garrison and 2,000 of the male population. The women and children were spared. This story is believed by Major Kitchener, and the son of Hussein Pacha Khalifa, Governor of Berber.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "We must now add 3,500 more to the thousands already butchered to make a holiday for Gladstonian principles. Humanity revolts at such a state of things, and somehow or other a stop should be put to it."

The War Office and the Admiralty continue to make active preparations for the contemplated expedition to Khartoum. The report is current that General Lord Wolseley advises pushing the campaign by way of Suakim or Massowah, instead of by way of the Nile. The Admiralty has applied to various steamship companies for the names and tonnage of their vessels which could be used for the transport service in August. Drafts of engineers, officers and men for the transport and commissariat service are being harried off for Egypt, and most are going to Suakim. Navigating officers detailed from the ships stationed at Suakim are buoying the approaches to the port and marking sites in prepa-ration for the arrival of a large number of trans-ports.

It appears that there was a pecuniary basis for the success attending Admiral Hewett's mission to King John of Abyssinia. The King undertakes to provide 30,000 men for the expedition to aid the English, and Admiral Hewett promised that a large sum of money should be placed at the King's disposal to defray the expenses.

M. Waddington, the French Ambassador to London, had a long private conference with Mr. Giadstone to-day. It was agreed that Mr. Gladstone and Prime Minister Ferry should make similar and simultaneous statements, the former to the House of Commons, and the latter to the French Chambers, concerning the mutual understanding excitations. It was decided to make these statements either on Thursday or Friday of next week.

This action will retard the date of the meeting.

TWO TRAINS WRECKED.

A FATAL COLLISION NEAR CAMDEN.

AN EXCURSION TRAIN RUN INTO BY AN ACCOMODA-TION TRAIN-SEVEN PERSONS KILLED AND SEVENTEEN WOUNDED.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.-About 9:20 o'clock this norning a collision occurred on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, about a mile west of Ashland Station, between an accommodation train and an excursion train, which resulted in the death of seven persons and the wounding of seventeen others. The accommodation train, which left Atlantic City at 7 a. m., was composed of a locomotive and seven cars, while the excursion train, bound from Camden to Lakeside Park, consisted of a locomotive and two cars, the latter being filled with women and children connected with the Second Presbyterian Church of Camden. Just before the excursion train left Camden, about 8:30 a.m., a dispatch was forwarded by Superintendent Bannard to the operator at Ashland Station, directing the accommodation to lay off on a siding at that point until the excursion train passed. It is not known whether or not the order was received as sent, or whether the conductor and engineer of the accommodation disregarded the order and kept on with their train. Efforts have been made to obtain the name of the operator, but without success, owing to the injunction of secreey upon the employes. It is said the operator was a new man.

WRECKED ON A SHARP CURVE,

The collision occurred on a curve about a mile west of the Ashland Station, the trains coming together with terriffic force. Both engines and tenders were entirely demolished. The point where the collision occurred is considered to be one of the worst on the line of the road. The place is about two miles from Haddonfield, and one mile from Ashland, with a heavy down grade and a curve in both directions. In the middle of the curve is a wooden bridge over Cooper's Creek. There is only a single track on the curve, with light embankments on either side. The accommodation train was running at the rate of twenty-two miles an hour when it entered the curve, and after the trains came together the utmost confusion ensued among the passengers.

The sight presented after the accident occurred was a terrible one. The train hands and the uninjured male passengers were running to and fro so much excited that they were uanble to render any assistance to the injured and dying. When the news reached Camden, a special train was hurriedly made up, and about a dozen Camden physicians taken to Ashland. The wrecking train was also sent to Ashland to clear the track. The 9:30 a. m. express from Camden for Atlantic City, was about departing when the news of the accident was received, and it was detained until 10:30 o'clock, when it left for Atlantic City, going over the West Jersey Railroad.

RESCUING THE VICTIMS.

The first man taken out of the wreck was John Rosenbaum, the express agent of the accommodation train, who was terrible cut about the head, face, and hands. He was found with a lot of debris covering him, and was extricated from his perilous position only after much difficulty. The body of fireman Nicholas Barber was next discovered under a portion of the wrecked tender. He was terribly angled about the head and body. Fireman Louis mangled about the head and body. Fireman Louis MeLean was unconscious when found, and was terribly scalded about the face and head, which was swollen to twice its normal condition. Brakeman John Lager was hurled from the baggage car and thrown into a pool of water and mud. He was badly injured, but how seriously cannot be ascertained. Mail agent Hibs was, after great labor to take him out from the mass of runs in which he was imbedded, found to be shockingly lacerated. His death occurred in a very short time. Among the more seriously injured of the passengers were John and William Caskey. The former, age, twelve, had his face badly cut; his younger brother, Willie, it is feared will die. The supervisor of the road, F. Fenton, was resened from the runs after two hours of hard work. He was terribly mangled and did not survive long. At the moment of the collision Conductor Smith was counting the tickets in the front of a car. Supervisor Dale was in the third car. He jumped to the platform and assisted a number of the children and older folks to escape. Then he ran to Haddonfield to inform the officials of the road. As soon as possible the injured were placed under immediate medical attendance, and such as could be removed to Camden were taken down at noon. One of the passengers says: "After the cellision occurred we all scrambled out of the car, some escaping by the windows. Both locomotives were completely demonshed, and the escaping steam made it impossible for some time for any one to approach within lifty feet of the wreck. Great excitement existed among the women and children composing the excursion train."

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Democratic politicians betray, the utmost anxiety respecting the situation and prospects of their party, and they are looking forward with eager solicitude to the doings of the New-York Convention. Last evening he broke into the wagon shed of Charles Kauffman, and with a hatchet that was found there destroyed two valuable wagons, besides chopping up a lot of walnut timber. At the house of John Leitz he entered the kitchen and broke all the dishes. Great efforts were made to capture him by the farmers through whose lands he went, but to no purpose.

"What will the New-York Convention do?" S. S. Cox was asked to-day.

"I cannot tell. Cieveland seems to have the moral 'bulge,' while Flower has a majority of delegates. It will be a struggle between numbers on the one side and morals on the other, and, you know, the Democratic party is now the party of A MOTION TO QUASH IT GRANTED-ARGUMENTS OF morality and reform." "Dorsheimer may promise Tammany's support to Cleveland, but he will not find it so easy to deliver the goods as he did two years ago. If Cleveland had redeemed his promises to Tammany after he became Governor, matters would look better for him now."

The case came up before Chief Justice Edgerton on a motion by the Governor's counsel to quash the indictment on the ground that the Governor was not zuity as charged; that if guilty the United States Court has no jurisdiction, and that the indictment was obtained by Campbell merely out of spite and for political effect. Ex-Governor C. K. Davis, of Minnesota, of Governor Ordway's counsel, argued that Territorial Governors judges and legislators were not indictable under the section of the revised statutes under which indictment was brought, and which provides for punishing United States officers who take bribes or cratuities for influencing their action in any matter coming before them for consideration. Governer Davis showed that this was the first case where a Governer had been indicted. After an hour's deliberation Judge Edgerton granted the motion to quash the indictment, and this is probably the end of all efforts to fix guilt upon Governor Ordway for official misdementors. received in Washington from "one of the laminary leaders," and which, in part, reads as follows:

I realize the fact that Blaine is a very strong candiate, and that the Democratic party must nominate a candidate in full sympathy with the party, and one who will bring every Democrat together as one man to meet the common enemy. Blaine is open to attack and does not meet the opposition of the business interests of the country. If the Democrats nominate Bayerd, we can win the fight, but with Cleveland, never. Why! Because Cleveland is a newspaper candidate, or, in other words, I am opposed to the Republicans who bolt Blaine, nominating our ticket. We can do that. Cleveland played into the hands of a Republican Legislature in our state and signed every bill to take power away from the Democracy, and would do so again if elected President (which he never will be). Bayard can be elected; Tilden do; Flower do. But Cleveland, never, for me. Fabout our people! We can tell better after our trip to Chicago. The cry against Cleveland must be "no Republican for Reformers for the Democratic party." We want a full fledged Democrat from top to bottom. I would rather lose with such a man than win, with an enemy.

A Southern Representative to-day said:

"I have read the report of the speech as revised by Bayard, and I confess it amazed me. About the time he delivered that speech in Delaware, I was making speeches in favor of secession pretty well down toward the Gulf of Mexico. I was young, ardent, and probably indiscreet, but I never made a more extreme speech than Bayard's. I anderstand he says he sees nothing in it now to regret or take back. Well, farther south we learned to take back those doctrines years ago. The speech and Bayard's re-Indorsement of it put him out of the question."

St. Paul, June 14.—At Sturgis, a town in the Black Hills, Dakota, Alexander Fiddler, a known criminal, with two soldiers, Brown and Hewes, robbed Schramm, an emigrant, of $300 after a desperate struggle, in which Hewes was shot in the arm by Schramm. Hewes was taken to the hospital, where he revealed the names of his accompltees, who were arrested. Fifteen masked men took Fiddler from the officers at Sturgis last night, and by threats of hanging induced him to tell where the money was hidden. On the information he furnished, they found the money, and immediately took Fiddler to a ravine and hamed him. It was expected that Brown would also be lynched to night.
